'SchoolQuest' Helps Military Parents, Students Find Their Way

The Military Child Education Coalition (MCEC) launched "SchoolQuest" a website tailored toward individuals and families finding information they need about schools in different areas of the country.

SchoolQuest is a powerful Web tool, backed by boots-on-the-ground research, dedicated to helping families achieve a seamless academic and social transition for their children during a move. SchoolQuest provides a safe and secure environment to consider a child's educational and extracurricular needs in a new area.

SchoolQuest highlights all the schools in a particular district so parents and students can view every school, every single requirement and all the programs they have.
